A HISTORY OF THE CLEVELAND INDIANS

by Scott Lax

INTRODUCTION: A DEEP AND RICH HISTORY

Cleveland's baseball teams have played an important role in the history of an ancient game that was re-invented and standardized in the United States in the first half of the 19th Century. Baseball as a Cleveland tradition dates back to the middle of the 19th century. The year 2015 marks the 147th year of professional baseball in Cleveland, Ohio.

Now in its 115th season, the Cleveland Indians franchise is one of only four Charter American League clubs – along with Chicago, Boston and Detroit – to play continuously in one city.

Cy Young

Cleveland baseball clubs have seen some of the greatest ballplayers to ever play the game. Cleveland teams have experienced breathtaking moments, glorious highs and heartbreaking lows. And perhaps just as importantly, countless fans have experienced thousands of hours of satisfying innings under spring, summer and autumn skies. One of America's greatest poets, Walt Whitman, said, "I see great things in baseball. It's our game – the American game." How amazing that Cleveland and its people were part of that greatness for more than twenty years of Walt Whitman's life.

Whatever the name of the Cleveland organization, and no matter where the games were played, the men who have played baseball, as well as owners, front office and staff, coaches, media and fans – all are part of the rich and exciting history of the Indians.

Professional baseball has deep roots in Cleveland. The game has been and remains part of the fabric of this great American city and region.

CLEVELAND BASEBALL BEFORE THE INDIANS

The American sport that came into existence in the first half of the 1800's officially began in Cleveland on June 2, 1869, with a match-up between the Cleveland Forest Citys – which represented Cleveland in baseball's first professional league – and the Cincinnati Red Stockings. The Forest Citys played in the National Association until 1871, and then disbanded in 1872.

After seven years, Cleveland returned to pro baseball in 1879, in the three-year-old National League. In 1885, after six seasons, Cleveland dropped out of the National League. Then, in November 1886, Cleveland was admitted to the major league American Association, replacing Pittsburgh's team, which had moved to the National League. After only two seasons in its new league, Cleveland again returned to the National League in 1889.

By 1890, Cleveland was the tenth largest city in the country, and one of the most advanced. Among other accomplishments, individuals in Cleveland pioneered streetlights, and an indoor shopping center, still known the Arcade. It also had two major league teams – one in the National League, and another in the new Players' League – which folded after that season. The American Association folded, too, all of which gave the National League a major league baseball monopoly.

From 1891 through 1899, Cleveland baseball had mixed success during its time in the National League. Led by Hall of Fame pitcher and future legend, Cy Young, on May 1, 1891, the Cleveland Spiders began playing at the then-new League Park, located at the corner of E. 66th St. and Lexington Avenue.

Cleveland never led the National League in wins, but the Spiders nevertheless earned three trips to the league's championship series. Cleveland lost the championship series to Boston in 1892, but defeated Boston to win the Temple Cup championship in 1895. Cleveland lost the Temple cup rematch to Boston in 1896.

In 1897, Louis Sockalexis, a gifted outfielder and Native American from the Penobscot tribe, joined the Cleveland Spiders. Sockalexis played 94 games for the Spiders, from 1897 through 1899. Those club's experienced some brutal losing seasons. When club owner Frank DeHaas Robison, who also owned the N.L.'s St. Louis franchise – a conflict of interest not permitted under current rules – sent Cleveland's best players to St. Louis, the team then endured the worst season in professional baseball history, with a record of 20-134.

The bad news was that Cleveland was dropped from the National League. The good news was that a door was opened for a new franchise in a new league.

With the dawn of a new century, the Cleveland of 1900 was an established major league city. This was ideal for the designs of a man named Ban Johnson, who turned his minor league Western League into major league competition for the National League. Financed by Clevelander Charles Somers, Johnson's minor league Western League became the major league American League after a year of minor league play. Beginning in 1901, the Spiders went head-to-head with the National League in 1901. Cleveland's new franchise played at Cleveland's established baseball home, League Park.

Cleveland made history when the first American League game was played between the Chicago White Stockings (now the White Sox) and the Cleveland Blues on April 24, 1901. Nature helped; all the other American League games were rained out that day. Chicago won the game, 8-2.

Addie Joss

Nap Lajoie

After its inaugural season, Cleveland acquired the future Hall-of-Famer and rival of Ty Cobb, Napoleon Lajoie, from Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, who sent Lajoie to Cleveland to pump up the new league. In addition, Cleveland acquired another future Hall-of-Famer in rookie pitcher Addie Joss.

More name changes came about during the first decade of the 20th Century. The team became the Blues (or "Bluebirds") in 1901, and then changed its name to the Broncos in 1902. In honor of their great player-manager, Lajoie, the team became the Cleveland Naps in 1903.

Now the team had a stellar ballpark, strong ownership, and future Hall of Fame players in Lajoie, Joss and outfielder Elmer Flick. Under player-manager Lajoie, Cleveland peaked in 1908 with a pennant race with Chicago and Detroit.

Cleveland had other solid players: third baseman Bill Bradley, first basemen George Sovall, and shortstop Terry Turner. "Addie" Joss, who was born in Toledo, Ohio, pitched a perfect game for Cleveland – only the second perfect game in history, with Cy Young having pitched the first – but the Naps finished second to the Detroit Tigers.

The next year, Lajoie had had enough of doing double-duty as a player-manager and returned to player-only status. The result was that he upped his batting average and engaged Ty Cobb in a famous batting race in 1910, one that historians haven't yet settled as to the winner.

Another player destined for fame and infamy, "Shoeless Joe" Jackson came to Cleveland from Connie Mack's Athletics. The legendary outfielder would surpass Lajoie as Cleveland's all-time batting leader, but couldn't bring the team a title.

Joe Jackson

In 1911, Addie Joss died suddenly of spinal meningitis at the age of 31. The team held a benefit game to raise money for Joss's survivors on July 24, 1911 at League Park. The charity game also became the forerunner of today's All-Star Game. Featuring legends and future Hall-of-Famers Ty Cobb (wearing a Cleveland uniform because he forgot his Detroit uniform), Tris Speaker, Eddie Collins, Frank "Home Run" Baker, Sam Crawford, Bobby Wallace and Walter Johnson, as well as Cleveland players Lajoie and Cy Young, who had returned to Cleveland in 1909 to finish a career that had begun with the Cleveland Spiders. Young was destined for history, becoming the namesake of the ultimate award for a MLB pitcher, and by winning 511 wins during his 22- year career.

Cleveland tried to build another contender with Lajoie, Jackson, shortstop Ray Chapman, catcher Steve O'Neill, and pitchers Cy Falkenberg and Vean Gregg. But the upstart Federal League blocked Cleveland's rebuilding efforts, as they raided both American League and National League Teams, and they hit Cleveland particularly hard by grabbing Falkenberg.

Consequently, the Cleveland Naps lost a franchise record 102 games in 1914. To make matters worse, attendance sank to disastrous lows. The era of Lajoie came to a close, and with his departure, following the 1914 season the franchise decided it was time for a name change.

On January 17, 1915, The Plain Dealer reported, "President Somers invited the Cleveland baseball writers to make the selection. The title of Indians was their choice, it having been one of the names applied to the old National League club of Cleveland many years ago."

New name or not, Somers needed to raise money for his team. He released Lajoie and traded Joe Jackson to Chicago for three players and much needed cash. It wasn't enough to keep his ownership feasible, however.

Enter Iowa-born Jim "Sunny" Dunn, who helped finance a deal that brought the great centerfielder Tris Speaker – who had been embroiled in a contract dispute with the Boston Red Sox – to Cleveland.

Dunn was now owner of the Cleveland Indians. Led by Speaker and manager Lee Fohl, the Indians narrowly missed winning the pennant in 1918. In 1919, Dunn fired Fohl and made Speaker player-manager. The Indians finished a close second yet again.

Tris Speaker

By 1920, Speaker had a formidable team that led the American League in runs scored, doubles, triples, RBIs, walks and a team .303 batting average. Speaker, outfielder Elmer Smith, and third baseman Larry Gardener each drove in more than 100 runs. Jim Bagby led the American League in wins with a club record 31, winning percentage, games, starts, complete games and innings pitched. Stan Coveleski became the first of many Indians pitchers to lead the American League in strikeouts. Coveleski won 24 games, plus three more in the World Series. Former Yankee pitching ace Ray Caldwell added 20 victories.

TRAGEDY AND TRIUMPH FOR THE TRIBE

Nothing could prepare the talented and revived Cleveland Indians for what would be the first tragic death to affect the team. Star shortstop Ray Chapman was struck in the head by a pitch that was thrown by Yankees pitcher Carl Mayes at the Polo Grounds in New York. He died twenty-one hours later. Chapman has a legacy beyond his on-field excellence, for he remains the only player in major league history to die from being hit by a pitch. His death led to numerous changes to the game – changing out dirty baseballs to keep them from being difficult to see, and eventually the batting helmet, which has likely saved numerous lives.

A rookie, Joe Sewell, replaced Chapman and began his own stellar Hall-of-Fame career. Late season call-up Duster Mails pitched a perfect 7-0, and helped the Indians hold off the Yankees and Chicago White Sox.

The Indians won the pennant, and went on to play the World Series against the Brooklyn Dodgers in a history-laden, nine-game series. Elmer Smith hit the first grand slam in Series history, and Jim Bagby was the first pitcher to hit a home run in the World Series. Second baseman Bill Wambsganss pulled off the first and only triple play in World Series history. All of those feats were accomplished in the fifth game of the nine-game series, on October 10, 1920, at Cleveland's League Park.

On the strength of those still-amazing feats, among other great plays, The Cleveland Indians won the 1920 World Series.

Stan Coveleski

The Speaker/Dunn era fielded two more contending teams, in 1921 and 1926, but fell short of winning the World Series. Still, there were significant highlights: George Uhle, a relief pitcher in 1920, emerged as the Indians ace and led the American League in wins in 1923 and 1926. Uhle joined Speaker and Sewell as cornerstones of the 1920's Tribe. "The Grey Eagle" – Tris Speaker – resigned following the 1926 season because of a gambling scandal. On January 27 of the next year, Speaker, along with Ty Cobb, was cleared of gambling charges. Though Sunny Dunn, through his estate, maintained ownership of the Indians through the 1927 season, on November 27, the team was sold to a syndicate led by John Sherwin and Alva Bradley.

THE 1930s and 1940s: A NEW ERA OF GREATNESS

The decades of the 1930s and 1940s that followed the Speaker/Dunn era brought more great baseball to a city that was making history in other ways. Clevelander Jesse Owens won four gold medals at the Berlin Olympics in 1936, and in so doing humiliated Hitler and his twisted theory of racial supremacy. The new Cleveland Browns football team won all four All-American Football Conference titles between 1946 and 1949.

A golden era for the Indians was beginning, too. This period saw future baseball legends Earl Averill, Mel Harder Bob Feller and Lou Boudreau – the first four Indians to have their uniform numbers retired – as well as a new stadium and new ownership.

On July 31, 1932, the Indians began playing at the huge new Cleveland Municipal Stadium. The first game in its new home saw was a pitchers' battle, with Philadelphia's Lefty Grove edging Harder 1-0 in front of more than 80,000 fans. The grand stadium fueled grand dreams for the team and its fans, but no championship under the Bradley ownership.

Ray Chapman's Grave

The high cost of the stadium forced the club back to League Park from 1933 to 1936, and for all but Sunday and holiday games beginning in 1937. League Park had no lights, so the Indians began playing night games at the new stadium. It was an auspicious start to night games, as on June 27, 1939, Bob Feller threw a one-hitter against the Detroit Tigers.

Other highlights of the Bradley ownership included Wes Ferrell's four straight 20-win seasons, Lew Fonseca's 1929 batting title, the batting heroics of Hal Trotsky as well as Cleveland's sandlot-star-turned-pro, Joe Vosmik. North Carolina native Johnny Allen, who went from bellhop to New York Yankees pitcher, had a 15-game winning streak in 1937 with the Indians, as well as being part of one of baseball's wackier incidents. On June 7, 1938, umpire Bill McGowan ordered him off the mound for wearing a uniform with a tattered sleeve. It worked out pretty well for Allen, whose $250 fine was repaid to the pitcher by owner Bradley. The uniform went on display at Higbee's department story in Cleveland, and eventually at the Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, New York.

Mel Harder

Five managers served the Bradley ownership, including Hall of Fame pitcher Walter Johnson and former Indians players Roger Peckinpaugh and Steve O'Neill (no relation to future Indians owner Francis J. "Steve" O'Neill). Ossie Vitt, fresh off a 109-win season as manager of the International League Newark Bears in 1937, replaced O'Neill. Despite an abrasive style, Vitt guided the Indians back to the top of the American League.

Rookies Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack gave the 1940 Indians legitimate pennant hopes. In an auspicious start to the season, Bob Feller pitched a no-hitter against the White Sox in Chicago. Nonetheless, the team mutinied against Manager Vitt by going to Bradley to request his firing.

Bradley's refusal to fire Vitt became national news, as the Cleveland ballplayers were branded "The Crybabies."

By the end of the season, the Indians finished a game behind the Tigers, and Vitt was subsequently fired.

Still, the near miss in 1940 didn't diminish the brilliant pitching of right-handed fast baller Bob Feller, who would earn the nicknames "Rapid Robert" and "Bullet Bob." That year he won 27 games, a win record not equaled by any Indians pitcher since. From his arrival in Cleveland in 1936 as the youngest player to ever wear an Indians uniform at seventeen years old, to his enlistment in the U.S. Navy in 1941, Feller was the main focus of the attention of fans and media in Cleveland. Signed by super scout and former major league pitcher Cy Slapnicka, Feller made history numerous times for the Indians. Among his fourteen regular season appearances in 1936 was a 15-strikeout effort against the St. Louis Browns in his first major league start. He also posted 17 strikeouts that year against the Athletics.

During his first six seasons, Feller won 107 games and led the American League in strikeouts four consecutive years from 1938 through 1941. Rapid Robert Feller had a record-setting 18-strikeout game against Detroit on October 2, 1938. Just as Lou Boudreau became player-manager for the Indians at the young age of 24, Feller left for his military duty.

Boudreau stepped in and stepped up, winning the American League batting title in 1944. (He would also lead all major league players with 1,578 hits during the 1940s.) Despite his efforts, the Indians never seriously competed during the war years.

After the war was over, Feller returned to a hero's welcome in 1945, as well as returning to the forefront of big league pitchers in 1946, when he led the majors with 26 wins and a club record of 348 strikeouts.

Earl Averill

VEECK ERA BRINGS A SERIES TITLE TO CLEVELAND

The end of the war signaled a new and progressive era in America. Bill Veeck, the son of a Chicago sportswriter, may have been the most creative club owners in baseball history. (Veeck also owned the St. Louis Browns and the Chicago White Sox in his career.) In 1946, Veeck put the Indians in Cleveland Municipal Stadium on a full-time basis starting with the 1947 season. He had solid baseball judgment, and built a pennant contender. Veeck signed

Bob Feller and Manager Steve O'Neill

African-American player Larry Doby in 1947, only eleven weeks after Jackie Robinson broke the color barrier by signing with the Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League. Veeck also signed 42-year-old Satchel Paige. He kept Boudreau as player-manager.

In 1948, the Indians led the American League in batting average, ERA, and fielding average. Boudreau won the MVP award, and rookie sensation Gene Bearden joined infielder/outfielder-turned pitcher Bob Lemon as a 20-game winner, while Feller won 19 games.

Ken Keltner, Joe Gordon and Eddie Robinson joined Boudreau to form a great infield, with Jim Hegan as an outstanding catcher. The Indians took the American League Pennant in a sizzling race capped by a historic one-game playoff against he Red Sox at Fenway Park in Boston. The Indians then went on to defeat the Boston Braves in six games to win the Series.

In short, the 1948 World Series Champion Cleveland Indians were Bill Veeck's masterpiece. Leaving at the top, but not without personal and financial pressures helping to motivate his departure, Veeck moved on in 1949.

MORE EXCELLENCE IN THE AL LOPEZ ERA

Five-time All-Star, Hall-of-Famer, and legendary slugger Hank Greenberg became the Indians general manager in 1949. After a disappointing fourth-place finish in 1950, Greenberg fired Lou Boudreau, replacing him with Al Lopez. Lopez gained the nickname "El Señor," owing to his Hispanic heritage and refined manner. Beginning in 1951, Lopez began his stellar career as a manager.

Also of note in 1951, the American League celebrated its 50th anniversary, and the Indians established a team Hall of Fame. Fan balloting named the formidable line-up. The first ten inductees were Hal Trotsky (1B), Nap Lajoie (2B), Joe Sewell (SS), Ken Keltner (3B), Tris Speaker (OF), Joe Jackson (OF), Steve O'Neill (C), Cy Young (P), and Mel Harder (P).

Outstanding pitching dominated the Lopez-managed Indians. Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia anchored a rotation that helped the Tribe finish no lower than second place. The powerful Cleveland offense, led by Larry Doby, Al Rosen and Luke Easter actually out-hit the "Bronx Bombers" New York Yankees throughout the 1950s, leading the American League in home runs six times. The Indians won their third pennant in club history with an American League record 111 wins in 1954. In keeping with New York teams being a thorn in the Indians' side, the New York Giants won the 1954 World Series in a shocking four-game sweep.

RINGTHEBELL.TV on Archive.org

The powerhouse Indians were aging by the mid-50s, but young talents such as 1955 Rookie-of-the-Year pitcher Herb Score, as well as Rocky Colavito, Roger Maris, Jim Perry and Jim Grant bolstered the team. Herb Score was struck by a line drive hit by New York's Gil McDougald in 1957, but regained his 20-20 vision and returned late in the 1958 season. Hampered by other injuries to his throwing arm, Score was traded after the 1959 season, but remains one of the greatest pitchers of all time.

TOUGHER TIMES FOR THE TRIBE

Kerby Farrell managed the Tribe for a single season in 1957. Al Rosen had retired after the previous season and the Indians slid to the back of the American League. Attendance sunk, as well.

A new management team of William R. Daley as president and Frank Lane as general manager were in place in 1958. Lane made history, but not in a positive way: known as "Trader Lane," the GM made sixty separate deals between December 2, 1957 and December 15, 1959. He sent eventual home run record-setter, Roger Maris, to the Kansas City Athletics. Yet the Tribe contended in 1959, finishing a close second to the Chicago White Sox. The 1959 Indians led the American League in home runs, runs scored, batting average and slugging percentage. Home attendance was fourth in the majors, and up by 125 percent.

Bill Veeck and Larry Doby

Most notorious of all – and devastating to many Cleveland fans – Trader Lane sent Tribe hero Rocky Colavito to Detroit in exchange for American League batting champ Harvey Kuenn on April 16, 1960. "The Rock" had been co-home run champion in 1959, and hit 129 homers over four seasons, including four during a game in Baltimore on June 20, 1959. Colavito was also known as the most charismatic Indian of his era.

After the brief and controversial tenure of Frank Lane, the Indians hired Gabe Paul. Paul wore many hats at different times with the Tribe, as GM, part owner, and CEO for the club between 1961 and 1973, and 1978 and 1984.

THE 1960s and 1970s: A MIXED BAG FOR THE INDIANS

The entire country was undergoing change and turmoil during the '60s and '70s. President Kennedy and his brother, Senator Robert , were assassinated, along with civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. As well, the Vietnam War challenged the nation, and a counter-culture rose up. Many cities, including Cleveland, were losing population, and in general decline.

The Indians were something of a barometer of the era, as the team suffered economically during the two decades. Seven ownership changes in 25 years – as many as occurred in the first 60 years of the franchise – and the team and the fans endured constant rumors that it would relocate to another city.

Al Rosen and Bob Lemon

Teams of 1962, 1965 and 1968 were perhaps a player away from serious pennant contention. The 1968 Indians, owned by Vernon Stouffer, managed by Alvin Dark and led by pitcher Luis Tiant, was the only Tribe team from 1960 through 1993 to finish as high as third place. Yet the 1962 and 1965 teams battled for first place beyond mid-season before fading by September.

In a move aimed as much at the dwindling box office as the standings, Rocky Colavito was reacquired following the 1964 season. His return sparked a better season and attendance, but getting Rocky back in Cleveland came at a high cost: future stars Tommy John and Tommie Agee.

Tiant's standout 1968 season, with 21 wins and a league-leading ERA of 1.60, was unfortunately followed by arm problems and sudden departure in 1969 to the Minnesota Twins.

Another highlight was pitcher "Sudden" Sam McDowell, a four-time strike-out leader during the '60s. In 1965, McDowell pitched his way to a league-low 2.18 ERA, league-high 325 strikeouts – the most ever by a Tribe lefty – and two consecutive one-hitters.

Herb Score

For all his brilliance, including a 20-win season in 1970, McDowell's inconsistency mirrored that of the team's. Ken Harrelson, a colorful player and 1968 American League RBI champion, was acquired amid much fanfare in 1969, but broke his leg in 1970 and retired. Catcher Ray Fosse seemed destined for stardom until a memorable home plate collision with Pete Rose at he end of the 1970 All-Star Game. An aggressive player, Fosse suffered numerous injuries, and was traded to the Oakland Athletics in 1973.

Lack of stability and problems with finances led the Indians to place an emphasis on immediate benefits over a long-range plan for success. This led to memorable individual achievements, but little team accolades.

In 1972, Sam McDowell was traded to San Francisco for Gaylord Perry and Frank McDuffy. In his first year with the Tribe, Perry won the Cy Young Award by pitching a spectacular 24-win season. Perry worked for a new Tribe management that included owner Nick Mileti and manager Ken Aspromonte. When GM Gabe Paul left Cleveland to run the Yankees organization, Phil

Rocky Colavito and Frank Lane

Gabe Paul and Phil Seghi

Seghi became the general manager of the Indians in 1973.

Gaylord Perry had a stellar first half in 1974, pitching his way to a 15-game win streak, which tied Johnny Allen's club record. The '74 Indians, managed by Aspromonte and feature players Buddy Bell, George Hendrick and Charlie Spikes along with Perry, were only a half game out of first place on July 4 and in second place as late as August 22, before the team ended the season in fourth place.

An unfortunate "ten-cent beer night" at Municipal Stadium on June 4, 1974, set off a 9th-inning riot that resulted in a Tribe forfeit.

The Indians would follow this mini-disaster with one of its greatest accomplishments as a leader in diversity in professional sports. On October 3, 1974, Executive Vice President of the Indians Ted Bonda introduced Frank Robinson as the league's first African-American manager. A player-manager, Robinson's first at-bat, at Opening Day in 1975, was a home run shot. Indians fans would later vote that at-bat as the most memorable moment in team history.

Sam McDowell

Gaylord and Jim Perry

Robinson's 1976 Indians were the first with a winning record since 1968. However a slow start in 1977 turned Robinson into yet another short-lived Tribe skipper. From the departure of Al Lopez to the arrival of Mike Hargrove, a period from 1957 to 1991, no Tribe manager lasted four full seasons.

In one of the most productive trades the Indians ever made, Phil Seghi obtained first baseman/designated hitter Andre Thornton from the Montreal Expos for pitcher Jackie Brown. Thornton played for the Tribe for ten years, from 1977 through 1987.

Thornton battled injuries and dealt with the tragedy of losing his wife and daughter in an automobile accident. Through it all, Andre Thornton became one of the Cleveland's all-time leading home run hitters, a two time all-star. He won other awards, and became one of Cleveland's most respected players.

Less successful for the Tribe was its first attempt at free agency. In 1976, the Indians signed pitcher Wayne Garland to a 10-year, $2.3 million contract. But Garland suffered an arm injury and won just 55 games in five seasons with Cleveland.

In 1978, F.J. "Steve" O'Neill rescued the financially troubled Cleveland. O'Neill had been a minority shareholder in the club before departing, with Gabe Paul, to take an ownership in the Yankees in 1973. O'Neill brought Paul back to Cleveland as CEO of the Indians.

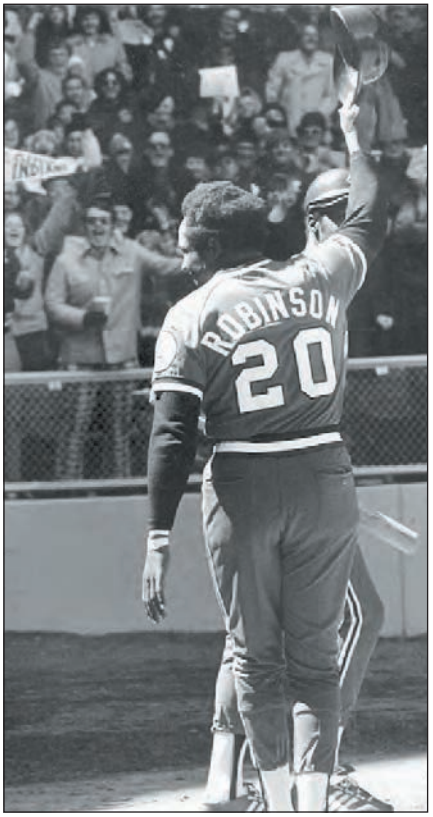
THE 1980s and 1990s – MORE TRAGEDY FOR THE TRIBE, BUT WINNING RETURNS TO THE "COMEBACK CITY" IN THE JOHN HART-MIKE HARGROVE ERA

As the new decade of the '80's dawned in Cleveland, rookie sensation Joe Charboneau, who was brought up from the minors to sub for injured Andre Thornton, seemed to be yet another player destined for stardom. Despite a penchant for off-field hijinks and controversy, Joe won Rookie of the Year in 1980. A back injury cut his promising career with the Tribe short, however, but by 1981 "Super Joe" was back in the minors.

On May 15, 1981, Tribe pitcher Len Barker pitched the tenth perfect game in baseball history. In a strike-torn season, it gave Cleveland fans hope.

More fireworks were to come in 1981, when Cleveland hosted the 1981 All-Star Game that signaled the end of the 50-day long players' strike. Cleveland set its third All-Star Game Attendance record with a crowd of 72,086 at Cleveland Municipal Stadium.



Frank Robinson

Andre Thornton

Despite an effective pitching staff led by Barker, newcomer Bert Blyleven, John Denny, Rick Waits and Garland, the Indians finished just over .500 and in sixth place.

Still, the All-Star Game was a harbinger of the City of Cleveland was making a comeback. By 1986, the Indians were back, too, with one of the best offenses in baseball. The Tribe led the American League in runs and attracted the highest attendance for the first time since 1959. Along with Andre Thornton, who made his own courageous comeback in 1982 after missing all the 1980 and most of the 1981 seasons, leading the Indians offense were Joe Carter, Cory Snyder, Brook Jacoby, Brett Butler and Julio Franco. The Tribe improved by 24 games for its most wins since 1968.

Fans in Cleveland had long proved that they would support an exciting and winning ball club. The estate of Steve O'Neill sold the team to brothers Richard and David Jacobs in 1986, and a rebuilding process began. The next year was a tough one, as the team lost 101 games.

The Jacobs brothers hired Indians Farm Director Hank Peters to begin their complete rebuilding process. The new leadership emphasized player development. As well, Dick Jacobs, a prominent Cleveland civic leader and businessman, made it clear that the team needed a new ballpark as part of that rebuilding. Voters had defeated a ballot issue in 1984 to create a new, domed stadium. Six years later, in a much-contested ballot issue, Cuyahoga County voters narrowly approved a tax on alcohol and cigarettes to fund what was known as the Gateway complex – a new arena for the Cleveland Cavaliers, and a ballpark for the Indians right next door.

But before that would happen, the organization's "Blueprint for Success" had to take on one of the weakest farm systems in baseball. Beginning with former Baltimore GM Hank Peters, who became president of the Cleveland Indians in 1987, more talent came from Baltimore as John Hart was groomed as a successor to Peters and Dan O'Dowd to run the farm system. As a result, in 1992 the Indians were named baseball's "Organization of the Year," by Baseball America, and there was little doubt that the Tribe was a team with a bright future.

Joe Charboneau and Rick Manning

The new management team wisely gained control over the organization's costs by extending long-term contracts to young players. They also aggressively traded for excellent talent: Sandy Alomar, Jr., and Carlos Baerga arrived from San Diego in exchange for Joe Carter. Alomar, Jr. became Cleveland's fourth Rookie of the Year. Though the Tribe still struggled – in 1991 it recorded 105 losses – progress was being made, as the improved farm system began to produce talent that would prove to make a huge difference.

On March 22, 1993, another horrible tragedy struck the Indians. Two Indians players, Steve Olin and Tim Crews were killed, and a third, Bob Ojeda was seriously injured in a boating accident on Little Lake Nellie in Clermont, Florida.

Led by manager Mike Hargrove, who managed from 1991-1999, the Indians battled through an emotional final season in Cleveland Municipal Stadium. Attendance that year topped two million fans for the first time since 1949, during the final series, when Cleveland hosted old rivals, the Chicago White Sox.

The next year, Cleveland's new park, with its scenic views and state-of-the-art facilities, became a symbol of the Indians oncoming success in the 1990s. The Tribe would be a baseball force again. The organization and the new ballpark attracted stellar free agents, both ex-Orioles. Pitcher Dennis Martinez and first baseman Eddie Murray were accustomed to winning, and the veterans joined an emerging young powerhouse lineup that featured Alomar, Jr., Baerga, Kenny Lofton – who was obtained by Hart from Houston in a savvy 1991 trade. They joined Cleveland farm players Albert Belle, Jim Thome, Manny Ramirez and pitcher Charles Nagy, who were stars in the making.

Brett Butler and Joe Carter

The Tribe slugged its way into a first-place battle with the White Sox in the new American League Central Division, only to have the excitement ended by a players strike on August 12. The strike wiped out the promising season, as well as post-season play. Indians fans, who had waited a long time, were as disappointed as the players and front office at a dream postponed.

The next year, after another postponement of 18 games, the 1995 season began when owners and players settled the strike. But the fans hopes would be rewarded: The Cleveland Indians had put together one of the greatest seasons in baseball history, winning the club's first American League championship since 1954 by crushing the rest of the division with a lead of 30 games. Only the 1954 Indians had won more games and had a higher winner percentage than the '95 team.

An explosive offense was aided by outstanding pitching, bolstered by the acquisition of pitching ace Orel Hershiser. For the first time since 1968, Cleveland pitching led the American League in ERA. Belle became the first player ever to combine 50 doubles and 50 home runs in the same season, and the first to hit 100 extra-base hits in one season since Stan Musial in 1948. Jose Mesa, another former Oriole acquired by Hart in '92 in exchange for a minor leaguer, was forced into the closer role. He responded with a near-perfect 46 saves – a club record – in 48 opportunities.

Cleveland swept Boston in the American League Division Series and beat Seattle in the American League Championship Series. But the overpowering pitching of the Atlanta Braves kept the Indians from completing its dream season, as Atlanta beat the Tribe in six games.

Dick Jacobs

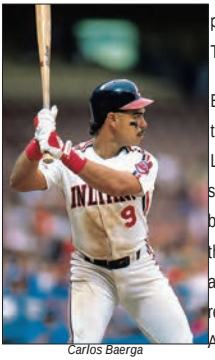
Fans in Cleveland came through in their support for the surging Tribe and sold out the entire 1996 season prior to opening game. Despite disappointing seasons from expected pitching ace Jack McDowell, the Indians in turn proved the 1995 season was no fluke as they won 99 games – the best in the majors. They again led the American League in batting average and ERA as they won another A.L. Central Championship. Belle and Lofton became the club's all-time leaders in home runs and stolen bases, respectively. But the Orioles shocked the Tribe in the postseason by sweeping them in four games.

In 1997, Hart and the Tribe retooled after losing Belle to the White Sox in free agency. The team acquired slugger Matt Williams through a trade, and in a daring deal right before Opening Day, sent Lofton to the Braves and brought outfielders Marquis Grissom and David Justice to Cleveland. The Tribe battled to its third-straight division title with a record of 86-75.

Sandy Alomar, Jr. had a storybook season, and led Cleveland through one of the most exciting months in its history. Thrilling victories over the Yankees in five games and the Orioles in six put Cleveland back in the World Series for the second time in three years.

The Indians and Florida Marlins went down to the wire, taking the Series to seven games. The seventh game went into extra innings. The final, 11th inning was perhaps the most gripping inning in Indians history and the one-run loss the most heartbreaking.

One of the phenomenal things about Cleveland's success in 1997, however, was that twelve of the players on the roster had not been with the team in 1996 Division Series. Unlikely October '97 heroes included rookie pitcher Jaret Wright, pitcher Chad Ogea and infielder Tony Fernandez.



Carlos Baerga

By 1998, Cleveland was clearly the dominant team in the American League Central Division. A fourth-straight Division crown seemed to be a lock. Lofton was back with the team, reacquired as a free agent, and slugger Travis Fryman replaced Williams as Cleveland and Arizona swapped third basemen.

Steve Olin

The Indians won the Central with a record of 89-73, then beat the Red Sox to earn a third ALCS berth in four years. Cleveland became the only team to win any postseason games from the record setting 1998 Yankees in the ALCS. That fact was little consolation, though, as the Yanks beat the Tribe in six games.

The 1999 Indians delivered an even better regular season with a 97-65 record and fifth-straight American League Central Division Title. (Only two other teams have won as many as five straight division titles.)

Led by Manny Ramirez and Roberto Alomar – Sandy's brother, and another ex-Oriole signed as a free agent – Cleveland set a team record with 1,009 runs scored, only the seventh team in MLB history to score 1,000 or more runs in a single season.

Ramirez drove in 165 runs, breaking Hal Troksy's club record of 162 in 1936. Robbie Alomar set a new club record for (24) and RBI (120) by a switch-hitter. Both Robbie Alomar and Omar Vizquel earned Gold Gloves for their defense. In Vizquel's case, it was his sixth straight. Young Bartolo Colon's 18 wins were the most by a Tribe pitcher since Blyleven's 19 in 1984.

Despite that record-breaking, exciting season, the wildcard Red Sox defeated the Indians in five games in the Division Series, making the quest for a World Series wait.

After the season, Mike Hargrove, the second-most winning manager in Indians history, was fired. GM Hart hired hitting coach Charlie Manuel, who had led Cleveland's Triple-A affiliates to league titles in 1992 and 1993, as his successor.

A NEW CENTURY: DOLAN/SHAPIRO/ ANTONETTI ERA

In February of 2000, Lawrence J. Dolan and family trusts acquired all outstanding stock in the Cleveland Indians Baseball Company, Inc. With that, the David and Richard Jacobs era in Cleveland baseball was over.

Cleveland's first real race for a postseason berth since 1959 ended on the final day of the regular season when Seattle edged the Indians for the American League wild card. The Tribe reached the 90-win mark at 90-72 for the fourth time in six seasons. Free agent acquisition Chuck Finley tied Dave Burba for a club high 16 wins. Cleveland's sellout streak reached 454 consecutive games (eventually ending at 455 in 2001) and the Indians led MLB in attendance for the first time since 1948. Overall, the Dolan's first year was one of the most exciting in Cleveland Indians history.

In 2001, the Indians returned to the top of the Central Division standings with a record of 91-71, giving them their sixth American League Central Division title in seven seasons since 1995. Jim Thome hit the most home runs (49) by a left-handed hitter in club history. Thome also had a career-high 124 RBI. Juan Gonzalez, in his only year with the Indians, added 140 RBI.

C.C. Sabathia, the Tribe's 21-year-old sensation and the #1 pick in the 1998 draft, won a team-high 17 games and came in second in the American League Rookie of the Year balloting.

Hart left the Indians after eleven years at the helm and Mark Shapiro became the new general manager.

But the dazzling success of the 1990s – eight straight seasons from 1994 through 2001 – meant Shapiro inherited a depleted farm system and years of picking late in the first round. There was an additional cost of trades of high-level prospects for older players that had been made in order to keep the Indians at a championship level. Shapiro, known for innovation, would need to rebuild.

Sandy Alomar, Jr.

In 2002, Charlie Manuel was let go and replaced by Joel Skinner. The Tribe came in third place with a 74-88 record, but there were individual highlights. Among them, Jim Thome had a single-season club record of 52 home runs in his last year with the Tribe. Thome left with a career-record total of 334 home runs as an Indian. (Thome would return in 2011.)

Shapiro named Eric Wedge as the club's 39th manager for the 2003 season. The Tribe posted a 68-94 season in his first season as Jody Gerut led the team in home runs and RBI on his way to The Sporting News Rookie of the Year honor.

In 2004, the Indians improved by 12 wins, to 80-82. In Wedge's second season, the Tribe was only a game out of first place in August as Victor Martinez established a new franchise record for RBI by a catcher (101) and Travis Hafner had 109 RBI as the Indians offense finished fifth in the league in runs scored with 858. The 2004 campaign was the final season for Indians all-time great shortstop Omar Vizquel, who played the second most games in franchise history at his position.

An impressive team core along with Shapiro's vision and Wedge's leadership paid off with a record of 93-69 in 2005, the sixth best record in MLB and the eighth highest win total in club history. In a heart-breaking final day loss to the White Sox, the Tribe barely missed the playoffs.

After a fourth-place finish in 2006 (78-48), the Indians again claimed the American League Central Division title in 2007 with an MLB-best equaling record of 96-66. The team advanced to its first ALCS since 1998 after defeating the New York Yankees in four games. The Tribe, however, lost to Boston in seven games.

Sabathia (19-7, 3.21 ERA) became the first Indians pitcher since 1972 to win the AL Cy Young Award. Eric Wedge was named American League Manger of the Year, becoming the first Indians manager to ever achieve that honor. Roberto Hernández (then known as Fausto Carmona) seemed to come out of nowhere to win 19 games, as well as finishing second in the American League in ERA, to give the Indians the best 1-2 tandem baseball along with Sabathia. Victor Martinez led the club with 114 RBI and finished seventh in the American League with 118 runs scored and won his first Rawlings Gold Glove. Indians starters led the American League in ERA as the Tribe finished third in total team ERA.

In 2008 the Indians fought their way to an 81-81 record after being 15 games below .500 in early August. Cliff Lee became the second consecutive Indians pitcher to win the Cy Young Award after going an amazing 22-3 with a 2.54 ERA in 31 starts. He did this without having made the Tribe's postseason roster the year before, and after a stint in Triple-A. Lee had the most wins by any Indian pitcher since Gaylord Perry in 1972 and the second highest winning percentage (.880) in club history.

The poor start in 2008 and expiring contracts of Casey Blake and C.C. Sabathia led the Indians to move in a younger, athletic direction. The team acquired Carlos Santana, Michael Brantley and Matt LaPorta. In 2009 the Indians finished with a 65-97 (.401) in Eric Wedge's final season as the Indians manager. Grady Sizemore's injuries and a pitching staff that posted a team ERA over 5.00 led the Indians to trade Lee, Victor Martinez, Ryan Garko and Mark DeRosa. In return the Tribe obtained promising players Chris Perez, Carlos Carrasco, Justin Masterson, Jason Donald and Lou Marson. After the season Manny Acta replaced Eric Wedge, who departed after seven seasons.

In 2010, the Tribe finished with a disappointing final record of 69-93. Still, there were highlights. The team finished strong, winning seven of the last nine games, and going 16-14 in September and October.

The Indians were hit hard by injuries. Standout players Grady Sizemore, Shin-Soo Choo and Asdrubal Cabrera were only in the lineup together 28 times in a 162-game regular season, or about 17 percent of the time. To make it even tougher, all those games were early in the season, before May 16. The Indians ended the season with the youngest roster in the Major Leagues.

Grady Sizemore

The young team had a red-hot start in 2011. The Tribe hit its season peak on May 23, going 15 games over .500 (30-15). Asdrubral Cabrera set a club record for home runs by a shortstop in a single season with 25, and Carlos Santana set a club record for home runs by a switch hitter with 27.

The season marked the return of Indians of Jim Thome, who also returned to form for the final five weeks of the season. Thome batted .296 and had an .896 OPS (On-Base Plus Slugging) that would have led the club had it been over a full season. The Tribe's living legend remained a franchise record-holder in career home runs with 337, and walks, with 1008.

The Tribe finished 2011 with an 80-82 record, coming in second place in the American League Central Division.

Outstanding individual achievements and big changes marked the 2012 season. The year started out strong, with the Indians achieving a season high eight games over .500 on May 23. On July 26, the Tribe played the Detroit Tigers and pounded Tiger pitcher Justin Verlander for four runs in the seventh inning for a tremendous come-from-behind victory, winning 5-3.

The next day, July 27, marked an 18-45 run that included an 11-game losing streak. On September 27, Sandy Alomar, Jr. replaced Manny Acta as Manager.

The 2013 season marked the beginning of the Terry Francona era as the Indians made the playoffs for the eighth time since 1995, posting a 24-game turnaround from 2012 (68-94 to 92-70) and earning an American League Wildcard berth before succumbing to Tampa Bay in a one-game playoff before a raucous Progressive Field crowd.

The Indians were propelled into the postseason on the heels of an historic 10-game winning streak to conclude the season, clinching a spot on the season's final day in Minnesota. The Indians swept an MLB record-tying seven four-game series and went 17-2 vs. the Chicago White Sox, finishing just 1.0 game back of Detroit despite going 4-15 vs. the Tigers. Offensively the Indians were the true definition of the word "team", as the club did not sport a player with 90 RBI or 90 runs scored.

In 2014, Terry Francona led the club to an 85-77 mark, the first time since 2000-2001 the Indians compiled back-to-back winning seasons. The third place finish was deceiving as the club finished just 5.0 games out of the division (3.0 games out of the Wild Card behind A.L. Champion Kansas City) and were in contention until the final Saturday of the season. Corey Kluber (18-9, 2.44 ERA) enjoyed a breakout season, fanning 269 batters (6th-highest total in club history) on his way to becoming the fourth Cy Young Award winner in franchise history. Michael Brantley also enjoyed an All-Star season, finishing third in the A.L. MVP voting (.327, 45 2B, 20 HR, 97 RBI) as he led the club in almost every offensive category and became just the ninth player in MLB history to amass 200 hits, 45 doubles, 20 home runs and 20 steals within the same season.

History of Cleveland Names

1869 FOREST CITYS

Cleveland was known as the Forest Citys.

1889 SPIDERS

The 1889 Cleveland club was comprised of so many tall and skinny players, the management decided to accent their features, and changed the name of the club to Spiders.

1900 BLUES

Referring to the bright blue uniforms worn by the team.

1902 BRONCHOS

The 1902 Cleveland players didn't like the name Bluebirds. They voted and chose the more forceful nickname Bronchos.

1903 NAPS

The team discarded the blue uniforms and a local daily newspaper sponsored a naming contest. "Naps" was selected in honor of Napoleon Lajoie.

1915 INDIANS

Upon Lajoie's leaving Cleveland for Philadelphia following the 1914 season, team officials determined a new name was in order for the 1915 season.

According to The Plain Dealer of January 17, 1915, team owner Charles W. Somers invited the Cleveland baseball writers to help in the selection of a new club name. The writers solicited their readers for suggestions. Through this process the name "Cleveland Indians" was selected. "Indians" was one of the names used by

LOUIS FRANCIS SOCKALEXIS

Louis Francis Sockalexis (1871-1913) was a Penobscot Indian from Old Town, Maine and the first American Indian to play major league baseball and be clearly recognized as an Indian. His very presence during Cleveland's spring training of 1897 caused a sensation wherever Sockalexis went and first inspired the use of the nickname "Indians" for the Cleveland club by newspaper writers.

Indeed, Sockalexis' first season in a Cleveland uniform was a season comparable only to that of Jackie Robinson and Larry Doby as a landmark campaign featuring an athlete attempting to hurdle prejudice to succeed.

Sockalexis was considered one of the greatest collegiate baseball players of his day. He batted well over .400 in two seasons at Holy Cross College in Worcester, MA. In addition to his slugging prowess, "Sock" was known for his legendary long, accurate throws from the outfield to cut down runners and his base-stealing skill (he once stole six bases in one game against Brown University). So spectacular were his feats on the diamond at the school that, in 1956, when the Holy Cross Athletic Hall of Fame was created, Sockalexis was the very first athlete inducted.

Baseball Hall of Fame player-manager Hughie Jennings wrote of him: "At no time has a player crowded so many remarkable accomplishments into such a short period of time as Sockalexis. He should have been the greatest player of all times - greater than Cobb, Wagner, Lajoie, Hornsby or any of the other men who made history for the game."

Sockalexis broke the Native American color barrier in 1897 and paved the way for Manager John McGraw (who played against Sockalexis as a Baltimore third baseman in 1897) of the New York Giants to add catcher John Meyers and outfielder/Olympic champion Jim Thorpe to his roster, while legendary Manager Connie Mack (who praised Sockalexis in his autobiography) added future Hall of Fame pitcher Charlie Bender to his powerhouse Philadelphia A's teams of the early 20th Century. McGraw once wrote: "If Sock had stayed up for five years he could well have been better than Cobb, Wagner or Ruth."

In spite of the presence of three future Hall of Fame stars on the 1897 Cleveland Spiders club - Cy Young, Bobby Wallace and Jesse Burkett - it was Sockalexis everyone turned out to see play. And they were not disappointed. Against Hall of Fame pitcher Amos Rusie, possessor of the fastest and nastiest breaking pitch of his day, Sockalexis powered a long home run in his very first at bat in New York City at the Polo Grounds.

Louis Sockalexis was inducted into the Maine Sports Hall of Fame in 1985. He was also inducted, along with his second cousin, marathon runner Andrew Sockalexis (Boston Marathon second place finisher 1912 and 1913, 4th place finisher in the 1912 Olympic Marathon at Stockholm), into the American Indian Athletic Hall of Fame in April, 2000 in ceremonies in Tulsa, OK.

the National League club of Cleveland two decades earlier.

The old National League club began to be referred to as the "Indians" upon the arrival of Louis Francis Sockalexis, a Penobscot Indian from Old Town, Maine, who was a member of that club in 1897.

The following day on January 18, 1915, on page eight of The Plain Dealer, the choice of the name "Indians" was further amplified.

"Many years ago there was an Indian named Sockalexis who was the star of the Cleveland baseball club. As batter, fielder and baserunner he was a marvel. Sockalexis so far outshone his teammates that he naturally came to be regarded as the whole team. The "fans" throughout the country began to call the Clevelanders the "Indians." It was an honorable name, and while it stuck the team made an excellent record.

It has now been decided to revive this name. The Clevelands of 1915 will be the "Indians." There will be no real Indians on the roster, but the name will recall fine traditions. It is looking backward to a time when Cleveland had one of the most popular teams of the United States. It also serves to revive the memory of a single great player who has been gathered to his fathers in the happy hunting ground of Abenakis."

PROGRESSIVE FIELD

Progressive Insurance purchased the naming rights to the ballpark on January 11, 2008.

Historians are certain to identify the year 1994 as a significant time in the history of the city of Cleveland. The Gateway Sports and Entertainment Complex, consisting of Progressive Field (formerly Jacobs Field), the current home of the Indians, and Quicken Loans Arena (formerly Gund Arena), will be remembered as the crowning jewel in the city's ever-changing urban landscape.

Gateway was made possible by its own 50/50 public/private partnership - through the support and cooperative efforts of the Cleveland business community, government, the Indians, our neighbors the Cavaliers, sports fans, and most importantly, the people of Cuyahoga County.

Progressive Field is an urban ballpark in the truest sense, both architecturally and aesthetically. Built within the physical boundaries of the three main streets in downtown Cleveland (Ontario to west, Carnegie to south, and East 9th Street to the east), Progressive Field offers a fan-friendly facility featuring an intimate environment. The exposed steel design, which matches that of the many bridges on the north coast, and the vertical light towers, which match the smoke stacks of Cleveland's industrial zone and the high-rise office buildings in Cleveland's downtown area, are just a couple of Progressive Field's architectural features that blend with Cleveland's cityscape.

Progressive Field initially opened its gates to fans on Saturday, April 2, 1994 for an exhibition game against the Pittsburgh Pirates, but the official opener occurred on Monday, April 4, 1994. The Indians came from behind in exciting fashion to defeat the Seattle Mariners 4-3 on an 11th inning single by Wayne Kirby. The opener included all of the pageantry of Opening Day, highlighted by President Bill Clinton throwing out the first pitch.

Two Cleveland institutions - the Cleveland Indians and Progressive Insurance - joined forces on January 11, 2008 to help bring the excitement of championship baseball to fans everywhere. What was known as Jacobs Field since 1994 is now Progressive Field.

Progressive, a leading car, motorcycle and commercial auto insurer, partnered with the Indians on a 16-year deal for the naming rights to the ballpark and also became the Official Auto Insurer of the Cleveland Indians. Progressive's payments to the Indians over the 16-year term of the agreement were expected to average approximately $3.6 million annually.

Now entering its 22nd season with an array of privately-financed structural and technological ballpark enhancements in place for 2015, Progressive Field has been the site for the World Series twice (1995 and 1997), postseason play eight times (1995-1999, 2001, 2007, 2013 - 35 home games, 1,561,010 fans), and the 1997 All-Star Game. It led Major League Baseball in attendance in 2000, sold out prior to Opening Day five seasons (1996-2000), set a Major League record for consecutive sellouts with 455, and has entertained nearly 50 million fans during the regular season.

IN MEMORIAM

Hank Peters

1924-2015

The Cleveland Indians organization lost a cherished member of the family this off-season as former President/General Manager HANK PETERS, 90, passed away in Boca Raton, FL.

Peters played an instrumental role in the renaissance of Indians Baseball. Hired in November of 1987 by owner Dick Jacobs, Hank was the foundation of the rebirth of baseball in Cleveland that led to a new ballpark, modernized baseball and business operations and, ultimately, championship teams.

Peters was President/GM of the Indians from 1987-1991. His return as President/GM was a homecoming as Peters was the Indians Vice President/Director of Player Personnel from 1966-71. He came to the Indians in 1987 following 12 years as EVP/GM of the Baltimore Orioles, whom he led to two World Series appearances, including a World Series title in 1983.

A veteran of 45 seasons in professional baseball, Peters first broke into the game in 1946 after serving three years in the U.S. Army in WWII. He began his baseball career working for his hometown St. Louis Browns, where he met his wife Dottie, who passed away in 2010. They were married 59 years.

CLUB EXECUTIVES

Mark Shapiro

President

Mark Shapiro, 47, enters his fifth season as President of the Cleveland Indians after spending nine seasons from 2002-2010 as Executive Vice President and General Manager. Shapiro was elevated to President following the 2010 season and is in his 24th season overall with the organization.

As President, Mark oversees the Baseball and Business Operations Departments and recently charted the organization through a series of moves to shape and clarify its strategic vision, brand and customer service philosophy. He is also leading efforts on a series of significant ballpark enhancements, which have recently included state-of-the-art technology upgrades and a privately funded renovation project designed to dramatically re-shape the fan experience at Progressive Field.

During Shapiro's nine-year tenure as Executive Vice President and General Manager from November 2001 thru 2010 the Indians twice won 90 or more games (2005, 2007) and in 2007 the Indians captured the American League Central Division title with a Major League best-equaling record of 96-66 and advanced to within a game of the World Series. From 2004-2010, the club won 80-or-more games four times. The 96 wins in 2007 and 93 wins in 2005, respectively, represent the 7th and 9th highest win totals in Cleveland Indians franchise history.

Following both the 2005 and 2007 seasons, Shapiro was named the Sporting News Executive of the Year, at the time the only active GM in Major League Baseball to win the award twice. He was also named the Executive of the Year by Baseball America in 2005. After the 2006 season, the Cleveland Indians organization was named "Organization of the Year" by TOPPS for the first time. Mark was named to the elite "40 under 40" by Sports Business Journal recognizing the top 40 sports executives under the age of 40 and was on Baseball America's "Ten to Watch" list in 2007.

Prior to becoming General Manager, Shapiro spent three seasons from 1999-2001 as Vice President, Baseball Operations/Assistant General Manager under John Hart after spending five seasons as the Tribe's Director of Minor League Operations from 1994-98.

During his tenure as Director of Minor League Operations, Mark oversaw all aspects of the Tribe's player development system and Latin American operations. He implemented the Winter Development Program in 1996, now in its 20th year, and installed a system of individual player plans for every Tribe minor leaguer in the farm system. The system he helped to create and oversee is based on a holistic philosophy of development and providing cutting-edge resources to Indians players in the mental, physical and fundamental domains; these principles remain the foundation of the club's player development system today. Mark Shapiro's career with the Cleveland Indians began in January of 1992 as an assistant in Baseball Operations.

Shapiro's scope of work in baseball has extended beyond the Cleveland Indians. From 2010-14, he served on Commissioner Selig's Special Committee for On-Field Matters. In 2015, Commissioner Rob Manfred named Shapiro to the newly-formed Competition Committee, a group under Manfred's Ownership Committee structure that will continue to address on-field issues relative to Major League Baseball. He also currently serves on the Major League Baseball Ticketing Committee, which examines current marketplace ticketing issues in MLB relative to digital ticketing, alternative revenue sources and the secondary ticketing market/dynamic pricing.

Mark's time in Cleveland has also included significant service work and charitable efforts in local communities. He co-chaired a capital campaign to build the Center For Families and Children current headquarters near downtown Cleveland. Additionally, Mark sits on the Executive Committee for Destination Cleveland and the Board of Directors for Recovery Resources, while serving as a member of the National Advisory Board of the Positive Coaching Alliance; in 2013, he joined other local leaders to establish a PCA chapter in Cleveland and currently serves as Board Chair.

The Baltimore, MD native played 4 years of football for the Princeton University Tigers, graduating in 1989 with a degree in history.

Mark lives in Bentleyville, OH with his wife, Lissa Bockrath, a talented Cleveland-based artist. The couple has a son, Caden (12), and a daughter, Sierra (10). His brother-in-law, Eric Mangini, is the former Head Coach of the Cleveland Browns and New York Jets and currently serves as Defensive Coordinator for the San Francisco 49ers. His father, Ron, was a universally respected agent who represented Hall of Famers Cal Ripken, Jr., Kirby Puckett, Jim Palmer and Eddie Murray and has authored several books on negotiations and preparation, including "Perfecting Your Pitch," a recent New York Times Best-Seller.

2014 Season Highlights

◆ Split the season between the rotation and bullpen and was the most dominant pitcher in the American League over the last two months of the season (see box at right)...Was in the starting rotation out of spring training, April 5-25 (0-3, 6.95 ERA, 17ER/22.0IP), and ended the season there with 10 dominant starts from August 10-Sept. 27, going 5-3 with a 1.30ERA to end the season (69.0IP, 45H, 10ER, 1BB, 78K) to form a powerful 1-2 punch alongside Corey Kluber...His 1.30ERA from Aug 10-end of season was the lowest in MLB over that span (min 9GS)...Became the first Indians pitcher since 1991 (Rod Nichols) to post a save and a shutout within the same season.

◆ Following April rotation stint he went 3-1 with a save out of the bullpen, posting an ERA of 2.30 (43.0IP, 34H, 11ER, 9BB, 39K, .217AVG) from April 30-August 5...Worked 12.2 scoreless inngings in relief from June 22-July 25 and earned his first professional save on June 16 vs. the LA Angles, preserving a 4-3 win by recording the final 7 outs of the game (2.1IP, 1H, 0R, 1BB, 4K)...Worked 4.0IP of relief two times to set 2014 club-highs for single-game relief, the last coming on August 5 vs. Cincinnati that prepped his return to the rotation..Over his last 16 relief outings (June 10-Aug. 5) his ERA was 1.23 (26.0IP, 21H, 6ER) as batters hit .180 (11/61) w/men on (18th in A.L at time in relief) and .161 (5/31) with RISP (19th-lowest relief mark in league).

2014 Season Highlights

- It was a tale of two seasons for Salazar, who opened the year in the Indians rotation, going 1-4 with a 5.53 ERA in 8 starts from April 4-May 15 (40.2IP, 49H, 25ER, 17BB, 47K, .301 AVG) before being sent to AAA Columbus on May 16... Returned on July 22 and spent most of the second half in the Indians rotation, going 5-4 with a 3.50 ERA in 12 starts (69.1IP, 68H, 27ER, 18BB, 73K, .255 AVG)...Did spend 10 days back in Columbus, August 6-17, before returning for the remainder of the season...Allowed 3 ER or less in 13 of his final 16 starts with Cleveland.
- Danny's strong second half was highlighted with this first career complete game and shutout on September 3 vs. Detroit (9.0IP, 8H, 0R, 0BB, 9K, career-high 118P)...Salazar became the first Indians pitcher to toss a CG shutout against Detroit since Jaret Wright on June 1, 1998 at Tiger Stadium - the first to do so in Cleveland since Orel Hershiser on June 5, 1995...According to MLB, Salazar (24 years, 235 days) became the youngest pitcher in the Majors dating back to at least 1914 to shut out the Tigers with 9+K's and zero walks.

◆ Fanned at least 7 batters in 9 of his 20 starts and averaged 9.8 strikeouts per 9.0IP with a strikeout/walk ratio of 3.43... His 9.8 SO/9.0IP would have been 5th in the A.L. just ahead of Felix Hernandez over a 162.0IP season... In his second start of April 10 at Chicago-AL, Salazar became the only pitcher in baseball's modern era (since 1900) to record 10 strikeouts in an outing lasting fewer than 4.0 complete innings (3.2 IP, 6 H, 5 R-ER, 2 BB, 10 SO, 2 HR, 1 WP, 93P, 18BF)...Only 2 other hurlers have struck out 10 batters in exactly 4.0 IP: Boston's "Smoky" Joe Wood in 1909 and Seattle's Felix Hernandez in 2013 (tied his career-high and set season-high for single-game strikeouts).

◆ Posted a 6.04 ERA in 5 April starts (17 ER/25.1IP, 5 HR) and a 4.70 ERA in 3 May starts (8 ER/15.1 IP) before being optioned to AAA on May 16...With Columbus, he went 4-6 with a 3.71 ERA (60.2IP, 58H, 25ER, 28BB, 76K) from May 20-July 17 and one spot start on August 12 during his second, 10-day AAA stint...Struck out 9 batters in 6 of his 11 Triple-A starts and over his last 6 starts he posted an ERA of 2.13 (38.0IP, 27H, 9ER, 48K)...Worked at least 5.0IP in 9 of 11 starts.

- Enjoyed a career-best start on Saturday, June 28 at Seattle, one-hitting the Mariners, while fanning a career-high 11 batters (0 walks), recording the only complete game/shutout of his career (Kyle Seager 1B in 5th inning)...Dating back to 1914, Tomlin's effort was just the 21st game (there are now 22) in Major League history that a starting pitcher threw CG shutout, allowed one or fewer hits coupled with at least 11 K's and zero walks...The only other game in club history (17,715 games prior to Tomlin's outing dating back to 1901) under such parameters was Len Barker's perfect game on May 15, 1981 vs. Toronto (9.0 IP, 11 SO)...According to Elias, Tomlin's effort was just the 3rd such game in which a Tribe pitcher faced one over the minimum (Barker and 1977 Dennis Eckersley no-hitter) in a CG SHO w/ double-digit strikeouts (Feller had 3 no-hitters and 12 one-hitters)...Kershaw (6/18 vCOL) and Bumgarner (8/26 vCOL) both did it in 2014...Was the first CG one-hitter by an Indians pitcher since LHP Billy Traber on July 8, 2003 vs. NYY.

INF GIOVANNY URSHELA received the Lou Boudreau Award (top organizational position player) and LHP RYAN MERRITT was honored with the Bob Feller Award (top pitcher) for the 2014 Minor League season.

Urshela, 23, split the 2014 campaign between Double-A Akron and Triple-A Columbus, batting a combined .280 (136-485) with 36 doubles, 6 triples, 18 home runs, 84 RBI and 78 runs scored. Urshela began the season with Akron where he hit .300 (27-90) with 9 doubles, 5 home runs, 19 RBI and a .914 OPS (.347 OBP/.567 SLG) in 24 games before his promotion to Triple-A in early May. The 6-foot, 197-pound third baseman recorded his first Triple-A home run in first start with Columbus, and went on to bat .276 (109-395) with 27 doubles, 6 triples, 13 homers and 65 RBI in 104 games. On the season, Urshela led all Tribe minor leaguers with 78 runs scored and ranked 2nd in the system in RBI (84), 3rd in hits (136) and 4th in home runs (18). Urshela also compiled a .977 fielding pct. (5 E/220 TC) in 98 games at third base for the Clippers.

The Cartagena, Colombia native was signed by the Indians as a 16-year old free agent in July of 2008, and has spent 6 full seasons in the organization's professional ranks. He has logged at least 100 games in each of the last 4 seasons dating back to his first full-season affiliate (Lake County) in 2011. Urshela recently completed a winter ball stint in Venezuela, hitting .398 (43-108) with 2 doubles, 3 triples, 3 home runs and 22 RBI in 27 games for Zulia in the Venezuelan Winter League.

Merritt, 22, finished the 2014 season with a Carolina League-best 13 victories, while holding down a 2.58 ERA (46 ER/160.1 IP) in a career-high 25 starts. Merritt's 160.1 innings led all Carolina League hurlers, while his 2.58 ERA (3rd), 2 complete games (T1st), 127 strikeouts (4th) and 0.95 WHIP (1st) all ranked in the top 5. The 6-foot, 165-pound southpaw limited opposing batters to a .216 (128-593) average against, including a .197 (23-117) clip against opposing lefties. Merritt allowed just one earned run across his first 4 starts (24.1 IP) of the season (0.37 ERA), and did not suffer his first loss until May 16.

Named to the Carolina League and organizational (MLB.com) postseason all-star squad, Merritt led all Tribe Minor League pitchers in ERA (2.58) and ranked second in wins (13). A native of Celina, Texas, Merritt was the club's 16th round pick in the 2011 First-Year Player Draft out of McLennan Community College and has posted a 4-year professional ERA of 3.16 (130 ER/370.0 IP) in 69 games/64 starts.

2014 CLEVELAND INDIANS SEASON IN REVIEW

2014 SEASON RECAP: After going 92-70 (.568) to earn the American League's first Wild Card spot in 2013, the Cleveland Indians finished the 2014 campaign with a record of 85-77 (.525)...Tribe entered Game 160 still in Postseason contention, but ultimately finished the year 5.0 games behind the pace in the A.L. Central Division and 3.0 games out of an A.L. Wild Card spot...club's 85-77 (.525) mark was the 7th-best winning pct. in the A.L. and 12th-best in the Majors...the club's 85 victories were 6th-most for Cleveland over the past 15 seasons (2000-14) behind 5 other campaigns of 90+ wins.

The 2013 & 2014 campaigns marked the first consecutive winning seasons for Cleveland since the Tribe strung together 8 such campaigns from 1994-2001...in going a combined 177-147 (.546), Cleveland owns the 4th-best winning pct. in the A.L. over the past 2 seasons, also 8th-best in the Majors.

HIGHEST WIN % IN AMERICAN LEAGUE, 2013-14

Team	Win%	W-L
Oakland Athletics	.568	184-140
Detroit Tigers	.565	183-141
Baltimore Orioles	.559	181-143
Cleveland Indians	.546	177-147
Los Angeles Angels	.543	176-148

After an 11-17 start to the year from March 31-April 30, Cleveland went 74-60 (.552) the rest of the way, good for the 4th-highest winning pct. in the A.L. beginning May 1 behind only Los Angeles-AL (.622, 84-51), Baltimore (.609, 84-54) and Seattle (.555, 76-61), also 8th-highest in the Majors...Cleveland trailed at some point in 40 of the club's 85 wins and held a lead at some point in 35 of club's 77 losses...Tribe held a 56-26 record when scoring first, but went just 29-51 when opponents got on the board first.

LAKE STREET DIVE: At 8 games above the .500 mark to end the year, the Indians reached their 2014 high-water mark for the third time overall, as Cleveland was also +8 on Sept. 21 (82-74) and Sept. 26 (84-76); that Sept. 21 record was technically achieved after club completed (and won) suspended game of Aug. 31 at Kansas City just prior to the club's regularly scheduled Sept. 22 contest against the Royals in Cleveland...the club's low-water mark of 2014 was 6 games below the .500 mark (4x, last 13-19 on 5/5).

RECORD-SETTING STAFF: Cleveland's pitching staff recorded 1450 strikeouts to establish a new Major League record for most in a single season, surpassing the previous mark set by the 2013 Detroit Tigers (1428)...Indians hurlers set the new record with 12 K's on Sept. 26 vs. Tampa Bay; the Rays staff would end the season with 2nd-most K's in MLB history (1437)...previous Cleveland franchise record was also set in 2013 (1379).

Bob Feller Act of Valor Award

In 2013, the Cleveland Indians, the United States Navy and the National Baseball Hall of Fame established the Bob Feller Act of Valor Award. The award was created to honor those whose actions, values and dedication to our servicemen and women represent the dignity and integrity displayed by Feller himself. Mr. Feller was the first baseball player to enlist in World War II -- a day following the attack on Pearl Harbor -- and earned the rank of Chief Petty Officer after serving aboard the USS Alabama. The second Bob Feller Act of Valor Award reception was held on Nov. 5, 2014 at the U.S. Navy Memorial in Washington, D.C. where our own NICK SWISHER was the second annual recipient.

The BFAOVA is presented in three categories: to a current MLB player; a National Baseball Hall of Famer; and a U.S. Navy representative. Hall of Famer TOMMY LaSORDA and Senior Chief Petty Officer CARL THOMPSON were also honored along with Swisher (all three pictured above with Anne Feller).

2013 Recipients: Justin Verlander (Current Player); Yogi Berra (Hall of Famer); U.S. Navy Chief Hospital Corpsman Garth Sinclair (U.S. Navy rep).

INDIANS RETIRED UNIFORM NUMBERS

BOB FELLER — #19

Arguably the greatest right-handed pitcher of all-time, the Van Meter, Iowa native joined the Indians as a 17 year-old in 1936 and played 18 years with the Tribe. Feller compiled a lifetime record of 266-162 with a 3.25 ERA. He is the Indians all-time leader in shutouts (46), innings pitched (3,827), wins (266) and strikeouts (2,581).

Bob appeared in 8 All-Star games, more than any player in the history of the Indians and started the 1941 and 1946 games.

Feller won 20 or more games six times and won a career-best 27 games in 1940. Bob also led the league in strikeouts seven times and in 1946 he won 26 games and struck out 348 in 371.1 innings and the 348 strikeouts is still a single-season team record.

"Rapid Robert" tossed three no-hitters in his career. Feller's first no-hitter came on April 16, 1940 in a 1-0 victory at Chicago in 30-degree weather and it remains as major league baseball's only Opening Day, no-hitter.

Bob lost three years of his career serving in the military (1942-44) and saw limited action in 1945.

Bob Feller's #19 was retired by the Indians in 1957, the first number retired by the club, and he was elected to baseball's Hall of Fame in 1962. Bob passed away on December 15, 2010 at the age of 92.

July 19, 2001 marked the 65th anniversary of Bob Feller's debut with the Indians on July 19, 1936. Bob took his big league bow in a relief appearance at Washington. The next month, Bob made his starting debut and recorded 15 strikeouts as Cleveland beat the St. Louis Browns 4-1 at League Park.

Mel Harder's career spanned 20 seasons, the most by any player in Indians history. The Beemer, Nebraska native broke into the majors with the Indians in 1928 and he concluded his career after the 1947 season with a 223-186 record and a 3.80 ERA. He appeared in 582 games, more than any other Indians player and his 223 victories trails only Feller on the Indians all-time list.

Harder, a four-time A.L. All-Star, played in the mid-summer classic in 1934 through 1937. Mel collected 20 victories twice, in 1934 (20-12) and 1935 (22-11) and reached double figures in victories 14 times. From 1932-39 Harder tossed more than 200 innings and won at least 15 games in each of those years. Mel is in the Indians all-time top ten in IP, shutouts, wins, strikeouts and games.

Harder led the Indians in innings pitched four times (1933-35 and 1937), wins five times (1934-35, 1937, 1938 and 1944), ERA four times (1933-35 and 1938), strikeouts three times (1933, 1935 and 1942) and complete games twice (1935 and 1944). After his playing career, he was the pitching coach for the Tribe from 1948-63.

EARL AVERILL — #3

Earl Averill played 13 seasons in the majors, 11 of those with the Indians. The Snohomish, Washington native broke into the league with the Tribe in 1929 and homered in his first plate appearance on April 16, 1929 and he batted .331 his rookie year. Earl retired after the 1941 season with a .318 lifetime average.

Averill was a six-time A.L. All-Star and started in the mid-summer classic three times, in 1936, '37 and '38. The left-handed hitting outfielder led the league with 232 hits and 15 triples in 1936. In 1931, he scored 140 runs, which still represents an Indians single-season record.

Earl left the Indians in 1939 as the franchise's all-time leader in runs scored (1,154), triples (121), RBI (1,084), extra-base hits (724), and total bases (3,200), totals that still top the club today. Averill is one of seven Tribe players to have hit for the cycle. He did it on August 17, 1933 vs. Philadelphia.

Earl was the first Indians player to homer three times in one game as he cracked three round-trippers on September 17, 1930 in consecutive at-bats. He collected 32 homers in 1931 and '32 and 143 RBIs in 1931. Both represent season-highs by a Tribe centerfielder.

Earl Averill's #3 was retired by the Indians in 1975, the same year that he was elected to the Baseball Hall of Fame. He passed away on August 16, 1983 at the age of 81.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER VOTES

Since the establishment of the current Most Valuable Player awards in 1931, six players have accumulated 400 or more MVP votes in a Tribe uniform. The group is led by Hall of Famers Lou Boudreau and Bob Feller. Boudreau garnered 896 votes from 1940-1949 and won the award in 1948. Feller earned 838 votes from 1939-1951. Albert Belle gained 835 votes from 1992-1996. Bob Lemon had 559 votes from 1948-1956. Manny Ramirez had 480 votes from 1995-2000. Al Rosen had 414 votes from 1950-1954 and won the award in 1953.

LARRY DOBY— #14

On July 3, 1947, Indians owner Bill Veeck signed Larry Doby to a major league contract. Two days later he appeared in his first American League game, becoming the first African American player in the league. This trailblazer enjoyed a magnificent 13-year big league career; 10 of those seasons were spent in Cleveland with the Tribe.

Larry helped lead the Indians to their last World Championship in 1948. In the '48 W.S. he batted a team-leading .318 and his 400-foot homer off the Braves Johnny Sain won Game 4 for the Indians. In 1950 he was recognized as the game's best centerfielder by The Sporting News. He led the AL in home runs (32) and RBI (126) in 1954 and Larry was a six-time All-Star spanning 1949-1954.

Prior to joining the Indians, Doby was a standout for the Newark Eagles of the Negro National League. In 1946, Doby led the Eagles to the World Championship, batting .397. He was hitting .414 with the Eagles in '47 before signing with the Indians.

Larry finished his outstanding major league career following the 1959 season. In his career he clubbed 253 home runs, collected 970 RBI and owned a .283 (1515-5348) batting average.

Larry Doby's #14 was retired by the Indians on July 3, 1994, exactly 47 years after he shattered the race barrier in the American League. Was enshrined into the National Baseball Hall of Fame in 1998. Larry passed away at the age of 79 on June 18, 2003. Eagle Avenue, which runs behind the Progressive Field bleachers in left field, was renamed Larry Doby Way in 2012 and a statue in Doby's honor will be erected in 2015.

BOB LEMON — #21

Bob Lemon spent his entire 15 year major league career with the Cleveland Indians. Lemon was converted to a pitcher after serving in the Navy in World War II after a stint at third base in the big leagues with the Tribe in 1941 & '42. After converting to pitcher, Lemon was a member of "The Big Four" and became one of the dominant AL starters over his 13-year pitching career during the late 1940s and 1950s.

Lemon's pitching prowess left him as one of the best pitchers in the history of the Indians franchise. His seven (7) 20-win seasons are the most by any pitcher in the history of the franchise. He currently ranks 3rd in Indians history in wins (207), innings (2850.0IP), strikeouts (1277), starts (350) and shutouts (31). He is 4th in club history in appearances (460) and complete games (188) and is 5th in winning percentage (207-128, .618).

During the Tribe's last World Championship campaign of 1948, "Lem" went 20-14 with a 2.82 ERA and led the American League in complete games (20), shutouts (10) and innings pitched (293.2IP). The sinkerballer followed his regular season performance up with a 2-0 record in the World Series vs. the Boston Braves w/a 1.65 ERA in 2 starts. Overall, Lemon led the American League in wins three times, complete games five times, innings pitched four times and shutouts and strikeouts one time each. A 7-time AL All-Star, Lemon was named The Sporting News Pitcher of the Year in 1948, 1950 & 1954. An outstanding hitting pitcher, Lemon compiled a career average of .232 (274-1183) with 37 HR, which is one short of the All-Time record by a pitcher (Wes Ferrell-38). He owned a .284 (31-109) mark as a pinch-hitter.

After his playing career was over in 1958, Lemon managed for eight seasons in the majors with the KC Royals, Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees, compiling a mark of 430-403 (.516). He managed the New York Yankees to the World Series title in 1978 and the AL crown in 1981.

He was elected into the National Baseball Hall of Fame in 1976 and his number 21 was retired by the Indians on June 20, 1998.

Lemon passed away in Long Beach, California on January 11, 2000 after a lengthy illness.

BEST OWNERSHIP START

The Indians have never finished first in the first year of a new ownership. The Dolan ownership was only the second in club history to debut with a second place finish. Cleveland finished second in 1953 under the new ownership group with Myron H. "Mike" Wilson, Jr. as its president.

A CLEAN SWEEP

Prior to the 2001 Seattle Mariners, the last team to lead its league in batting average, earned run average, and fielding average in the same season was the 1948 World Champion Cleveland Indians. Cleveland also led the AL in all three categories in 1906. The only other teams to accomplish this feat are the New York Giants (1904, 1931), Chicago Cubs (1906, 1945), Philadelphia Athletics (1910), and St. Louis Cardinals (1944, 1946). (Based on data from Total Baseball, Sixth Edition.)

EDITOR'S NOTE: Former Indians General Manager Billy Evans was elected to the Hall of Fame in January, 1973. Former owner Bill Veeck was elected in 1991. Walter Johnson managed the club from 1933-35 and Hank Greenberg was General Manager from 1950-57.

GOLD AT SECOND, SHORT, AND THIRD

With 3 Gold Glove infielders in 2000 (Robbie Alomar, Omar Vizquel, and Travis Fryman), the Indians joined a select circle. Only one other franchise has had the Gold Glove winners at second base, shortstop, and third base in the same season. In 1969 and 1971, the Orioles captured Gold Gloves at all three positions (Second Baseman Dave Johnson, Third Baseman Brooks Robinson, Shortstop Mark Belanger) and did so again from 1973-75 (Second Baseman Bobby Grich, Robinson, Belanger).

3000 HITS IN TRIBE UNIFORM

Of the 28 players in major league baseball history with 3,000 or more hits, three of them reached the hallowed mark in a Cleveland uniform: Nap Lajoie, Tris Speaker and Eddie Murray. Murray joined the 3,000 hit club on June 30, 1995 against the Twins at the Metrodome in Minnesota. Speaker reached 3,000 hits on May 17, 1925 against the Washington Senators at League Park. Lajoie's 3,000th hit is less clear. Initially, his 3,000th hit was reported on September 27, 1914. Subsequent research found that Lajoie had nine hits in 1901 not previously recorded. Consequently, his 3,000th hit actually came on September 17, 1914 against Boston at League Park.

THE WINNINGEST DECADE

Cleveland won 904 games during the 1950s (1950-1959), the winningest decade in club history. Cleveland's 823 wins in the 1990s (1990-1999) were one win short of matching the 1930s (1930-1939) as the second winningest decade in franchise history.

OTHER NO-HITTERS

Earl Moore's 1901 no hitter (5/9/01) was one of those affected by a 1991 ruling regarding no-hitters. Moore pitched nine no-hit innings, but allowed hits in the 10th inning in a 4-2 loss against Chicago. One no hitter pitched against Cleveland prior to 1991 was also affected by the 1991 ruling. Tom Hughes (8/30/10) allowed a hit in the 10th and lost the game, 5-0, in the 11th. On April 12, 1992 Matt Young did not allow a hit in a 2-1 Tribe win over Boston at Cleveland Stadium. Young pitched the entire eight innings for Boston (Cleveland did not bat in the ninth), but, based on the 1991 ruling, did not receive credit for a no-hitter.

DID YOU KNOW?

According to the Elias Sports Bureau the 33 years without a 20-game winner (1975-2007) was the longest gap in Major League history, one year longer than the Phillies' 32-year streak from 1918 to 1949...The last Indians pitcher to be the first pitcher in the Majors to reach 20 wins was BOB LEMON in 1954 (August 29).

FELLER'S TRIPLE CROWN

For pitchers, an equivalent of batting's Triple Crown is leading the league in wins, strikeouts, and ERA in a single season. Bob Feller accomplished this feat in 1940 with 27 wins, 261 strikeouts, and a 2.61 ERA. Feller captured two legs of this Triple Crown in 1939 (24 wins, 246 strikeouts), 1941 (25 wins, 260 strikeouts), 1946 (26 wins, 348 strikeouts), and 1947 (20 wins, 196 strikeouts). Bob Lemon (23 wins, 170 strikeouts) in 1950 and Sam McDowell (2.18 ERA, 325 strikeouts) in 1965 also came within one title of the Triple Crown.

LONG TIME BETWEEN STARTS

When Dennis Martinez started in the second game for Cleveland in the 1995 World Series, he set a record for the longest time between his first and second World Series starts. His first World Series start came 16 years earlier with the Orioles in 1979. Another former Tribe pitcher, Steve Carlton, had held the record with 13 seasons between his first World Series start (with the Cardinals in 1967) and his second (with the Phillies in 1980). MISSING TWENTY

The 1995 Indians are one of just four teams in AL history to win 100 or more games without a 20-game winner. The others were the 1984 Tigers, 1941 Yankees, and 1915 Red Sox. Cleveland's win leaders in 1995 were Charles Nagy and Dennis Martinez, each with 16 wins. Nine NL teams have won 100 or more games without a 20-game winner. UNASSISTED TRIPLE PLAYS INVOLVING THE INDIANS

From 1901 until 1994, every unassisted triple play in American League history involved the Cleveland Indians. Cleveland's Neal Ball was credited with the first unassisted triple play in AL history on July 19, 1909. Three Tribe players (Frank Brower on September 14, 1923; Homer Summa on May 31, 1927; and Joe Azcue on July 29, 1968) have hit into unassisted triple plays. Cleveland's Bill Wambsganass turned the only unassisted triple play in World Series history on October 10, 1920. The first unassisted triple play in AL history not involving the Indians was on July 15, 1994 when Boston's John Valentin turned three against Minnesota.

ALL-STAR GAME AND WORLD SERIES

Only two teams, the Indians and Yankees, have played host to the All-Star Game and the World Series more than once. Cleveland participated in both classics in 1954 (at Cleveland Municipal Stadium) and 1997 (at Jacobs Field). Yankee Stadium played host to the mid-summer and fall classics in 1939, 1960, and 1977.

CLEVELAND ALL-STAR REVIEW

TOP THREE ALL-STAR CROWDS

72,086 at Cleveland Stadium on August 9, 1981
69,831 at Cleveland Stadium on July 8, 1935
68,751 at Cleveland Stadium on July 13, 1954

GAME ONE AT CLEVELAND STADIUM - July 8, 1935, American League 4, National League 1

A crowd of 69,831 - the largest throng to see an All-Star Game (until 1981 in Cleveland) - packed the lakefront Stadium for just the third mid-summer classic in history. The partial American League crowd was thrilled to a 4-1 junior circuit victory, the A.L.'s third straight All-Star win.

Jimmy Foxx belted a two-run homer in the first inning and the American Leaguers coasted to the win as Lefty Gomez and Mel Harder baffled the National League hitters.

GAME TWO AT CLEVELAND STADIUM - July 13, 1954, American League 11, National League 9

In a spectacular slugfest that set All-Star marks for runs and hits by the two clubs, the American League edged the National 11-9. The slugfest produced six home runs, including four by the A.L. The Indians' Al Rosen clubbed a pair of homers while he and his Cleveland teammates Bobby Avila and Larry Doby combined for eight RBI.

The 1954 contest was a wild seesaw contest which saw the lead change six times before the A.L. pulled out the 11-9 win with a three run rally in the eighth. Ironically, it was Nellie Fox's broken bat single over second base with the bases loaded in the eighth that provided the margin of victory.

GAME THREE AT CLEVELAND STADIUM - July 9, 1963, National League 5, American League 3

After four years as a double feature, the All-Star Game went to a single performance and saw the National League utilize its speed and gain its first Cleveland Stadium win, 5-3.

Willie Mays was easily the game's outstanding performer, going 1-for-3 with two RBI, two runs scored, two stolen bases, a walk and the game's most scintillating catch. 44,160 fans saw the action.

GAME FOUR AT CLEVELAND STADIUM - August 9, 1981, National League 5, American League 4

An all-time record All-Star Game crowd of 72,086 welcomed back baseball from the 50-day players strike and saw the National League edge the American 5-4. The 72,086 fans gave Cleveland the top three crowds in All-Star history.

Gary Carter clubbed two home runs, including a seventh inning solo shot to put the National Leaguers ahead to stay. Cleveland's Lenny Barker faced just six batters in his two innings of work, striking out one.

GAME FIVE AT JACOBS FIELD - July 8, 1997, American League 3, National League 1

Indians host the 68th Mid-Summer Classic for a record 5th time as Sandy Alomar hit a 2-out, 2-run homer off SF LHP Shawn Estes in the 7th inning, breaking a 1-1 tie. Alomar sent 44,945 fans home happy, becoming the first Indian ever to win an ASG MVP and the first player in MLB history to be named MVP in his home park.

Randy Johnson and Greg Maddux started the contest and a total of 14 pitchers were used. Edgar Martinez and Javy Lopez also homered in the game, which took just 2:36 minutes to play.

INDIANS BROADCAST HISTORY

The early days of baseball play-by-play broadcasting in Cleveland were highlighted by change. Broadcasting legend Tom Manning, known for his field announcing at League Park, was heard over radio station WTAM from 1929-31 covering most home games. Ellis Vander Pyl started the 1932 season on WHK, but was quickly replaced by another broadcasting legend, former Tribe player Jack Graney. For the next decade, when Tribe baseball was on the air, Graney was at the mike. His noteworthy partners included Gil Gibbons, Pinky Hunter and Lou Henry. In 1945, no Cleveland baseball broadcasts were heard because of radio network committments. Permanent radio play-by-play of Indians games was established in 1946 when Bill Veeck purchased the team. Before the sale, no games were broadcast in 1946. Soon after the Veeck purchase, four stations carried the Tribe game of June 28, 1946 (Graney and Bob Neal on WGAR, Earl Harper on WJW, Don Campbell on WHK, and Manning on WTAM).

TRIBE BROADCASTERS

TOM HAMILTON, the "Voice of the Indians," will enter his 26th season of calling Cleveland Indians baseball games on the radio in 2015. In his 25 seasons since 1990, Hamilton has called all 69 postseason games the Indians have played over that span, including the 1995 and 1997 World Series'. His 25-year tenure, along with Rick Manning, is the second-longest in club history next to his former partner, Herb Score (34 years, 1964-97).

Hamilton is joined in the booth by Jim Rosenhaus, providing action and commentary for all 162 regular season games and 15 spring training contests on News Radio WTAM 1100, 100.7FM WMMS and the Indians Radio Network.

Tom came to the Indians after spending three seasons as a broadcaster for the AAA Columbus Clippers (1987-89), then the top farm club of the New York Yankees. Previously, Tom worked in Milwaukee, Appleton, Watertown and Shell Lake, Wisconsin.

Some of his broadcasting credits include the University of Wisconsin football games, University of Colorado basketball games, the Appleton Foxes Minor League baseball games and work for ABC radio. He is a six-time recipient of the Ohio Sportscaster of the Year Award (1997, 2000, 2001, 2004, 2006 and 2013). During the off-season, Tom does television basketball broadcasts for the Big Ten Conference on the Big Ten Network. In honor of his 20th season with the Indians, Tom was given the Cleveland Association of Broadcasters Hall of Fame Award for 2009.

Hamilton is a native of Waterloo, Wisconsin. He resides in Avon Lake, Ohio with his wife, Wendy. The Hamilton's have four children: Two boys, Nicholas and Bradley, and two girls, Kelsey and Katie. Nick graduated from Kent State University, where he was a key member of 2012 College World Series qualifying Kent Golden Flashes and played three years of pro ball. Brad is a freshman catcher on the Kent baseball team.

2015 marks the ninth season for JIM ROSENHAUS as part of the Cleveland Indians radio broadcast team and his fourth teaming with Tom Hamilton on every game broadcast. During his time with the Tribe, Jim has served as the host of Indians Warm Up and Tribe Talk on the Indians Radio Network. Jim also provides webcasts (Indians.com) for most games not on the Indians Radio Network.

Rosenhaus joined the Indians prior to the 2007 season after spending 11 years as the play by play voice of then Indians AAA affiliate, the Buffalo Bisons. Jim started his professional baseball broadcasting career with the Tribe's long-time Single A affiliate in Kinston, NC. In addition to his baseball broadcasting work, Rosenhaus spent 11 years as the voice of the University of Buffalo men's basketball team.

In the baseball off season, Jim also works various televised events for SportsTime Ohio, including college and high school basketball, OHSAA football state playoffs and college and high school volleyball.

On July 24, 2011, Jim was inducted into the Buffalo Baseball Hall of Fame, along with former Indians and Bisons catcher, Tony Pena.

Jim resides in Bay Village, OH with his wife, Carole, and sons, Nathan and Cole.

BROADCASTERS AND WRITERS HONORED BY THE NBHOF

The equivalent of Hall of Fame induction for broadcasters and sportswriters is the Ford C. Frick Award and the J. G. Taylor Spink Award, respectively. Three individuals have been honored for their coverage of the Indians. Tribe play-by-play voice Jimmy Dudley received the Frick award in 1997. Gordon Cobbledick (1977) and Hal Lebovitz (2000) have been honored with the Spink award.

Former Tribe center fielder RICK MANNING returns for his 26th season as color commentator for Indians baseball telecasts on SportsTime Ohio and on WKYC- TV. Rick's tenure with the club began in 1990 as his 25-year tenure is the second-longest in franchise history (alongside Tom Hamilton).

"Arch", 60, began his professional baseball career with the Cleveland Indians as the #1 selection (2nd overall) in the 1972 June draft out of LaSalle High School in Niagara Falls, NY. The first 8 1/2 years of his 13-year Major League career were spent in Cleveland (1975-1983), where he won a Gold Glove in 1976 for his fielding prowess. Manning was also selected as the BBWAA "Good Guy" award winner for the 1980 season and caught the final out in Len Barker's 1981 perfect game. He later played with the Milwaukee Brewers from 1983-87 before ending his 13-year career with a career batting mark of .257 (1349-5248) in 1555 games.

Rick and his wife, Sue, reside in Scottsdale, AZ. He has two children, Kyle and Jessica, and five grandchildren.

MATT UNDERWOOD begins his 16th season as a broadcaster for the Cleveland Indians. 2015 will mark his ninth year in the TV booth calling play-by-play with partner Rick Manning. Previously he spent seven seasons (2000-06) as a member of the Tribe radio broadcast team and 13 years as host of Indians Warm Up, the pregame show heard on the Cleveland Indians Radio Network.

Matt began his career with local ABC affiliate WEWS-TV5, where he spent 17 years and served as the station's sports director from 1997-2000. Underwood has called play-by-play action for the OHSAA football playoffs and 18 State Championship games as well as NCAA football on SportsTime Ohio.

The Ashland, OH native graduated from Baldwin-Wallace College in 1990. He is a member of both the Ashland County Sports Hall of Fame and the Baldwin-Wallace Radio Hall of Fame. In 2013, Underwood received the Alumni Merit Award from B-W and the Distinguished Alumni Award from Ashland High School. Matt hosts an annual golf tournament to raise money for Team Focus, the Ashland County Cancer Association and the Sophia Underwood Memorial Scholarship Fund. He and Rick Manning have also helped to raise more than $50,000 over the past 7 years for The Gathering Place, a local organization created to support, educate and empower individuals and families touched by cancer.

He currently resides in Avon Lake with his wife, Shelley, who owns and operates Johnny Mango, a popular restaurant in Ohio City since 1996. They have two children, Max and Devan.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

FIRST-YEAR PLAYER DRAFT

Major League Clubs meet once a year for the purpose of drafting high school, college and junior college eligible players. High school players become eligible following completion of their senior year or after withdrawing from and remaining out of school for at least 365 days; college players become eligible following completion of their junior or senior years or if they are at least 21 years old and between school years; and junior college players become eligible following their freshmen or sophomore years.

Selection of a player in the first-year player draft (Monday, June 8, 2015) entitles the Club to the exclusive right of negotiation with that player through July 17 at 5PM ET, the signing deadline, for all draft picks other than college seniors (or other players who have utilized all of their NCAA eligibility) for whom the Club has the exclusive right of negotiation for approximately one year.

If a first or second round draft pick (or a free agent compensation pick between the first and second rounds) does not sign by the July 17 signing deadline, the selecting Club receives the subsequent pick in the following year's draft.

Clubs choose players in reverse order of Major League standings, and the draft concludes after 40 selection rounds, in addition to up to two compensation rounds—one following the first round and one following the second round. Approximate date of draft meetings: Summer (early June).

ROOKIE QUALIFICATIONS

A player shall be considered a rookie unless, during a previous season or seasons, he had a) exceeded 130 at-bats or 50 innings pitched in the Major Leagues; or 2) accumulated more than 45 days on the active roster of a Major League club or clubs during the period of a 25-player limit (excluding time in the military service and time on the disabled list).

SAVE RULE

Rule 10.19 – The official scorer shall credit a pitcher with a save when such pitcher meets all four of the following conditions 1) he is the finishing pitcher in a game won by his club; and 2) he is not the winning pitcher; and 3) he is credited with at least 1/3 of an inning pitched; and 4) he satisfies one of the following conditions: a) enters the game with a lead of no more than three runs and b) pitches for at least one inning, c) enters the game, regardless of the count, with the potential tying run either on base, or at bat, or on deck (that is, the potential tying run is either already on base or is one of the first two batsmen he faces); or d) pitches for at least three innings.

MAJOR LEAGUE SERVICE

- Is credited for each day a player appears on an active roster or Major League disabled or suspended list.
- In the case of a player called up from the Minor Leagues, is credited beginning with the date he physically reports.
- In the case of a Major League player who is traded and reports in the normal course, service is not interrupted.
- In the case of a Major League player sent down to the Minor Leagues, is credited through the date of the assignment.
- In the case of a player who is unconditionally released, is credited through the date waivers are requested.
- In the case of the player designated for release or assignment (MLR 2), is credited after the designation, through the date of the actual assignment or the request for unconditional release waivers.
- For a player who appears on his club's opening day roster, is credited as of the earliest scheduled opener, without regard to the actual opening date of his own club.
- Is credited at the rate of 172 days per "year," though the season is actually 183 days long
- Is not credited during any period or periods of optional assignment totaling 20 days or more during a single season.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROSTER LIMITS

The Major League Active Roster is limited to 25 players from opening day through August 31 except in the case of a doubleheader. Beginning in 2012, roster limits were expanded to 26 for any doubleheader except for a rescheduled doubleheader when it occurs on the day after the canceled game or a doubleheader in which one game is the continuation of a suspended game. The active roster limit is 40 players from September 1 through the end of season.

BATTING-PITCHING QUALIFICATIONS

To qualify for the American League batting championship, a player must have 502 or more plate appearances. (3.1 for each of the 162 scheduled games.) Pitchers must work 162 or more innings to qualify for the earned run average title.

DEFINITION OF A NIGHT GAME

Any game scheduled to start after 5:01PM will be considered a night game. Twi-night doubleheaders shall be included in doubleheader statistics and shall be considered two night games for single-admission doubleheaders starting after 4:00PM. When afternoon and night games are played on the same date with separate admissions, the games shall be day and night and count as single games.

CONSECUTIVE GAME HITTING STREAKS

A consecutive-game hitting streak shall not be terminated if all the player's plate appearances (one or more) result in a base on balls, hit batsman, defensive interference or a sacrifice bunt. The streak shall terminate if the player has a sacrifice fly and no hit.

HOW TO FIGURE

BATTING AVERAGE

Divide the total number of hits collected by a player by the total number of at bats (i.e.Player A is 12-for-40 or .300).

SLUGGING PERCENTAGE

Divide the number of total bases by the total number of at-bats (i.e. Player A's 12 hits include six singles (6), one double (2), two triples (6) and three home runs (12) for 26 total bases in 40 at bats and a .650 slugging percentage).

EARNED RUN AVERAGE

The total number of earned runs allowed by a pitcher is divided by the total number of innings pitched and then multiplied by nine for his per game average (i.e. Pitcher B has allowed 12 earned runs in 45 innings of work for a 2.40 ERA).

FIELDING AVERAGE

The sum of putouts and assists is divided by the sum of putouts, assists and errors (i.e. Player C has made 16 putouts and 24 assists and two errors. That's 40 putouts and assists divided by 42 chances for a fielding average of .952).

WON-LOST PERCENTAGE

Divide the number of victories by the total number of games played (i.e. 22 wins and 18 losses produce a winning percentage of .550).

ON-BASE PERCENTAGE

The sum of hits plus total bases on balls plus hit-by-pitches is divided by the sum of at bats plus total bases on balls, hit-by-pitches and sacrifice flies (Does not include being awarded first base on interference or obstruction).

MAGIC NUMBER

Determine the number of games yet to be played, add one, then subtract the number of games ahead in the the loss column of the standings from the closest opponent.

OPS

OPS equals On-Base Percentage plus Slugging Percentage. OPS is a simple way to get an overall summary of a batter's production. It combines the two most important factors in offense - reaching base (OBP) and advancing runners (SLG), and as a result it tracks with very closely with runs scored, better than using just OBP or SLG by itself.

OTHER ALL-TIME TEAMS

Several all-time Indians teams have been chosen over the years. In 1951, an all-time team was chosen in conjunction with the 50th anniversary of the American League.The players chosen for that team were: Hal Trosky (1B), Nap Lajoie (2B), Joe Sewell (SS), Ken Keltner (3B), Tris Speaker (OF), Earl Averill (OF), Joe Jackson (OF), Steve O'Neill (C), Cy Young (P), and Mel Harder (P). These players also comprised the first 10 inductees to the Cleveland Indians Hall of Fame.
